Reconstruction Results of Concatenated Images

Wallun Chan
CS 297
Spring 2005
Training image with original on the left and enhanced on the right

Reconstructed result of original on both sides

Reconstructed result of original on the left and blank on right
Training image with original on the left and enhanced on the right

Reconstructed result of original on both sides

Reconstructed result of original on the left and blank on right
Training image with original on the left and enhanced on the right

Reconstructed result of original on both sides
Training image with original on the left and enhanced on the right

Reconstructed result of original on both sides

Reconstructed result of original on the left and blank on right
Training image with original on the left and enhanced on the right

Reconstructed result of original on both sides

Reconstructed result of original on the left and blank on right
Training image with original on the left and enhanced on the right

Reconstructed result of original on both sides

Reconstructed result of original on the left and blank on right
Training image with original on the left and enhanced on the right

Reconstructed result of original on both sides

Reconstructed result of original on the left and blank on right
Training image with original on the left and enhanced on the right

Reconstructed result of original on both sides

Reconstructed result of original on the left and blank on right
Training image with original on the left and enhanced on the right

Reconstructed result of original on both sides

Reconstructed result of original on the left and blank on right
Training image with original on the left and enhanced on the right

Reconstructed result of original on both sides

Reconstructed result of original on the left and blank on right
Training image with original on the left and enhanced on the right

Reconstructed result of original on both sides

Reconstructed result of original on the left and blank on right
Training image with original on the left and enhanced on the right

Reconstructed result of original on both sides

Reconstructed result of original on the left and blank on right
Training image with original on the left and enhanced on the right

Reconstructed result of original on both sides

Reconstructed result of original on the left and blank on right
Training image with original on the left and enhanced on the right

Reconstructed result of original on both sides

Reconstructed result of original on the left and blank on right
Training image with original on the left and enhanced on the right

Reconstructed result of original on both sides

Reconstructed result of original on the left and blank on right
Training image with original on the left and enhanced on the right

Reconstructed result of original on both sides

Reconstructed result of original on the left and blank on right
Training image with original on the left and enhanced on the right

Reconstructed result of original on both sides

Reconstructed result of original on the left and blank on right